EXPERIENCE

Moon Space Company - Full Stack Developer Using (MERN – stack)

As a Full Stack Developer at Moon Space Company, I'm actively engaged in spearheading projects utilizing the MERN (MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, Node.js) stack.
Contributing to the company's objectives, I have developed and maintained robust applications, harnessing the power of this modern tech stack. Notable achievements include:

Designed and implemented a user-friendly interface for a space exploration data analysis tool using React.js.
Integrated backend functionalities using Node.js, ensuring seamless data handling and processing.
Collaborated with a cross-functional team to create and deploy scalable solutions for mission-critical systems.

Mar 2023 - Current

Freenet, German, remote - Programmer assistant

During my tenure at Freenet, I worked remotely as a Programmer Assistant, where I supported the team in various programming tasks.
Although my role was primarily supportive, I gained valuable insights and contributed in the following ways:
Assisted in debugging and troubleshooting code issues, ensuring the smooth operation of software systems.
Contributed to the development and enhancement of specific features, adhering to the team's programming standards and guidelines.

Oct 2022 – Apr 2023

Consulta - Full Stack Development Using (React.js – Node.js)

Led the development of a client management system, using React.js for the frontend and Node.js for the backend.
Implemented robust APIs, enabling efficient data transmission and manipulation, contributing to a more streamlined system.
